Mount Frankland National Park

Discover Mount Frankland

Mount Frankland is one of three sites which make up the Walpole Wilderness Discovery Centre, along with Swarbrick and the Valley of the Giants. It offers a number of places to experience and enjoy the natural wilderness. From the summit of this impressive granite monadnock, visitors are afforded spectacular 360 degree views of the surrounding landscape. Mount Frankland also features the impressive Mt Frankland Wilderness Lookout, which provides uninterrupted views of karri, tingle and jarrah forests, expanses of treeless heathland and distant granite peaks.

Walking opportunities

All walks start from the information shelter. The Caldyanup Trail can be picked up from either the Towerman's Hut or Soho Lookout (located just off the summit trail).

Mt Frankland Wilderness Lookout, Class 1 600m return

This path leads to an impressive lookout offering uninterrupted views across the Walpole Wilderness. The view takes in vast expanses of forest and treeless heathland as well as prominent granite peaks in the distance. This sealed path is suitable for all levels of experience, fitness and ability.

Towerman's Hut, Class 1 200m return

Enjoy a short stroll to a shady picnic area with gas barbecues and picnic tables. Here you can look into the old hut lived in by towermen of days gone by. During the fire season, they climbed from the hut to the summit of Mount Frankland several times a day to watch for fires and monitor the weather. This sealed path is suitable for all levels of experience, fitness and ability.

The Summit, Class 4 1.2km return

Climb to the summit of Mount Frankland for spectacular 360 degree views of the surrounding landscape. On a clear day you can see the Porongurup and Stirling ranges to the east and the Southern Ocean to the south. This walk is quite difficult and requires you to climb a ladder and a series of steep steps. A good level of fitness and bushwalking experience is required. Please consider weather conditions before proceeding.

Caldyanup Trail, Class 3 1.6km return

Named after the Noongar word for Mount Frankland, this moderate walk circumnavigates the base of the granite mass through shady karri forest allowing a closer look at this unique environment. You may choose to follow this trail on your descent from the summit as an alternative route to the Towerman's Hut and picnic area. A good level of fitness is recommended and be aware that the granite sections may be slippery.
