Greens Pool and Elephant Rocks

Greens Pool is famous for its turquoise waters and pristine white sands edged with granite boulders. The pool is the centrepiece of William Bay National Park and the area is perfect for swimming, snorkelling, relaxing and exploring the granite rocks.

Must see

Granite boulders and rocky shelves extend for 100m or more out to sea along the coast between Greens Pool and Madfish Bay. Sheltered pools, channels and granite terraces inside this reef create a fascinating landscape for exploring.

Many fish and sea creatures live in the calm waters of Greens Pool. Why not go for a snorkel and discover a captivating underwater world of ever-changing mini-scapes?

A characteristic feature of South Coast national parks such as William Bay is the year-round presence of flowers. There is a peak in spring but flowers can be found even in the hottest weather, especially in concealed habitats under the karri trees or in dense coastal shrubs.

Getting there

From Denmark: drive 15km west along South Coast Highway to William Bay National Park.

Travelling time

From Denmark: 20 minutes by car.
From Walpole: 45 minutes by car.
From Albany: one hour by car.

What to do

William Bay National Park is an excellent stop between Denmark and Walpole. There are toilets and a natural sea pool perfect for the whole family to swim in. Walkers can follow trails over to Elephant Rocks and explore little coves guarded by massive granite outcrops. The Munda Biddi Trail and the Bibbulmun Track pass through the park. Why not take a short walk or ride to further explore the rest of the park?

Visitors can enjoy a wide range of recreational activities at Greens Pool. It is the perfect place for beach walking and the calm waters are ideal for swimming, snorkelling and discovering a colourful array of marine life.

Fees

No fees apply in William Bay National Park.
