Helena National Park is located to the south-east of Mundaring Weir around the Mount Dale area. Helena National Park was created under the State Government's Protecting Our Old Growth Forests Policy and was gazetted in 1995 as a National Park. The current name (Helena National Park) may change at some point in the future as a result of public consultation and management planning processes.

Mount Dale was once the site of a fire lookout tower as it provides almost uninterrupted 360° views over the National Park and surrounding State Forest areas.

The lower recreation site at Mount Dale has been upgraded and now provides a pleasant spot for family picnics.

The Bibbulmun Track, which runs from Kalamunda to Albany, travels close-by to Mount Dale and the lower recreation area provides an ideal drop-off/pick-up point for walkers using the Bibbulmun Track.

An animal viewing hide has been constructed on the north side of Mount Dale and provides spectacular views over the Helena National Park and the Darkin River Valley. The animal viewing hide was a joint project between CALM and the Darling Range Branch of the WA Naturalist's Club.

Caring for Helena National Park

Be Careful: Your safety in natural environments is our concern, but your responsibility.
